

From: Octavio Guzman
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/17/02 3:25pm
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Hello, I am currently not happy to see Microsoft not split up, for years I have been oppressed by others that use Windows, and the Macintosh has always been ahead, and Microsoft is trying to get ahead of the law. Not one company even among the wealthiest obtain the power to buy themselves out of trouble. By buying out companies, they never want to have competition. Apple works hard to keep their competition alive, and the alligators at Microsoft are attempting to get into Apple's remaining pond. Their suggestion of distributing free computers was hypocritical to their monopoly scandal. I must also mention that if they want to settle out, it should have been with the betrayed Apple customers.

Thank you,
Octavio Guzman
MacAddict since 1984